

SHOPMEN ABANDON DEFENSE AGAINST INJUNCTION PLEA

Announce Principal Contentions of Workers Upheld; Workers Satisfied With Results; Case Scheduled for Hearing Today

Cites Pennsylvania Case

Jewell Writes That Supreme Court Held, in P. R. R. Action, Obedience to Rules and Decisions of Board Not Compulsory

Chicago, May 1.—Leaders of the strike of railroad shopmen today abandoned their case in defense against the federal injunction obtained by Attorney General Daugherty last September, and announced that their principal contentions in the case had been upheld.

The announcement by counsel for the defendants, coming 24 hours in advance of the hearing on the government's application for a permanent injunction, caused Blackburn Esterline, assistant solicitor-general of the United States, to interpret the action of the defense as amounting to a default which he termed a "fiasco."

After announcing that all attorneys for the defense had withdrawn at the request of the officers of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor, Donald R. Richberg, of defense counsel, explained that the shopmen were satisfied with the situation and that the government could find such satisfaction as they could and do as they wished with the case. He made public a letter from B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees department, and the other leaders, explaining their view of the case.

The case, the letter declared, involved the right to strike, and the government had called the strike a conspiracy and that its primary purpose was to seek to establish a concerted refusal to accept wages and working conditions as fixed by the Railroad Labor board was unlawful. In this connection, the shopmen's leaders referred to the supreme court decision in the case of the Pennsylvania railroad against the Labor board, in which the court held that it was not compulsory to abide by the board's decisions, although holding that there was a moral constraint to do so.

The letter continued that, aside from the primary charge that the strike was illegal, no matter how peacefully conducted, there was a charge that the strike was accompanied by violence and that the shopmen never had opposed an injunction against lawlessness.

As to the government bill of complaint in support of the application for a permanent injunction against the activities of the defendants in support of the strike, the letter declared: "This nation-wide strike no longer exists. The nationwide aspect of the strike ended on September 12, 1922, when the general conference committee of the shopcraft settled the strike with a number of roads under the 'Baltimore agreement,' and that thereafter each system federation assumed control of continuing or settling the strike on various lines, and that since then the strike has terminated on 233 roads operating 190,000 miles of railway and that a strike or lockout condition remains only in connection with some 57 railroad lines operating approximately 78,000 miles."

Indication today was that when the case comes up for hearing before

40 INJURED WHEN TROLLEY RUNS WILD

Crashes Into Heavy Truck at Manhattan Bridge Entrance; All Traffic Blocked

New York, May 1.—Forty passengers were injured during the rush hour today when a Manhattan trolley car ran away on the grade as it approached the Brooklyn end of the structure, leaped the track and crashed into a group of waiting vehicles at the bridge entrance.

The car, containing about 70 passengers, had raced 600 feet down grade out of control and as it left the track and collision with the vehicles seemed imminent, women screamed in fear.

Its flight was checked abruptly as it dashed into a heavy motor truck and crashed against a trolley pole, dislodging electric wires which added to the peril. The impact hurled many to the floor in a heap in a shower of splintered glass.

The police quickly stopped all traffic on the huge span until wrecking crews could pick up live wires.

Five ambulances were sent on the scene but before their arrival a temporary hospital was established on the ground where those not seriously hurt were given first aid.

Shoppers of the day, who were in the police in removing the injured passengers.

DAWES TAKES NEW OFFICE
Washington, May 1.—Henry M. Dawes of Chicago today took office as comptroller of the currency and D. R. Crandall of Ohio, the retiring comptroller, became governor of the Federal Reserve board, a place to which he was transferred by the senate at the last session.

Mr. Crandall's transfer to the reserve board leaves only one vacancy in that body, the "first assistant" place.

FIND STUDENT'S SKELETON AMID DEBRIS AT PIER

Identified as That of Leighton Mount, Who Disappeared Night of Class Fight at Northwestern U.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Evansville Police Chief Holds to Theory Man Fatally Hurt in Crash and Clash; Coroner Says Murder Case

Chicago, May 1.—Twenty-five Northwestern university students were questioned today in connection with the death of Leighton Mount, whose skeleton was found buried under rocks and sand on the lake front at Evanston yesterday.

The police expressed the belief that Mount's death resulted from a freshman-sophomore clash in the fall of 1921 and Robert E. Crowe, state attorney, ordered an assistant to attend the inquest tomorrow.

"I am inclined to believe from reports I have received that it is certainly a case of murder," said Oscar Wolff, Cook county coroner, who took personal charge of the investigation. "The peculiar position of the skeleton and the fact that it was weighted with stones precludes the idea of suicide in my opinion."

Charles W. Leggett, chief of police of Evanston, was of the opinion that Mount's death was accidental and might have resulted from injuries received in a class fight which took place the night he disappeared. An investigation at the time was dropped when reports were received that the boy had written to a young woman that he was discontented and "was going away."

Death Probably Accidental
"Mount's body was carried to the pier after his death, and buried beneath heavy stones," Chief Leggett said. "There could be no other explanation of the presence there of his skeleton."

"It is likely that Mount was accidentally killed during the class war and that his body was hidden by students who were frightened after their fight."

Chief Leggett and President Walter Dill Scott of the university met today to arrange for the inquest tomorrow. Chief Leggett announced that the boys who testified at the hearing, held soon after Mount's disappearance, would be among those summoned.

Mrs. J. L. Mount, mother of the youth, for whom a nation-wide search was made, identified the belt buckle, initialed "L. M." and bits of clothing as those of her son.

From the skeleton the bones of both arms and hands and one foot are missing.

Rope May Give Clue
With the bones found last night was said to have been a rope, piece of rope similar to that used in tying student prisoners in the class rush preceding Mount's disappearance.

The pier is walled in on three sides and police said that precluded the possibility that the body might have been washed to its resting place by the lake waves.

Henry Warren, a 12 year old boy, found the bones under the pier when he crawled through a small hole in the concrete out of curiosity. He took home a leg bone and his mother notified the police.

COMMISSIONERS LEAVE FOR MEXICO CITY SUNDAY NIGHT

Washington, May 1.—Charles E. Warren and John Barton Payne, American commissioners appointed to negotiate with Mexican representatives for hastening the restoration of friendly relations between Washington and Oregon governments, will leave Washington Sunday night for New Orleans, and will sail from there for Mexico on the first available steamer.

The state department announced today that the American commissioners would be prepared upon arrival at Mexico City to begin discussions with the Oregon officials.

Whether Matthew Hanna, chief of the Mexican bureau of the state department, will accompany the two commissioners or join them later in Mexico City has not been decided.

WARNS ASSEMBLY OF NEED OF HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER

Albany, May 1.—Governor Smith in a special message last night again called the attention of the assembly to the necessity for the adoption of a plan for the development and distribution by the state under state ownership and control of hydro-electric power. Pointing out that weeks ago the senate passed a plan for carrying into effect the administration's proposal for the project, the governor declared that the real obstacle to the project was the reluctance to indicate what is certain to occur if the state is to depend on outside sources for relief. While people were working coal for heat and power, the governor said, water capable of developing electrical energy and conserving the coal supply was running to waste.

POLICEMAN STABBED BY MAY DAY CROWD

30 Casualties Result From Melee in Evening of Paris' Quietest May Day in Years

(By the Associated Press.)
Paris, May 1.—Killing, in which scores of persons were injured and one policeman was possibly mortally wounded, marked the close this evening of the quietest May day Paris has seen in years.

The police, after having experienced a peaceful day, this evening were called into action in the heart of the Communist district where disorder arose. Time and again they charged into the swirling masses of demonstrators and it was half an hour before they were able to beat back the mob and clear the thoroughfares.

Two other demonstrations of less magnitude occurred about the same time in Versailles where a half dozen police who attempted to make arrests were met with showers of stones and finally had to retire from the scene.

There was still another disturbance in St. Dennis where, in general melee, a policeman was badly beaten and a city councillor was arrested.

Riot Follows Noisy Meeting
The Paris riot occurred after a noisy, but reasonably orderly meeting at labor headquarters in workingmen's quarters. When the crowd came out of the meeting place, squads of police steered the people into a big open Place Du Combat.

Bottles, stones and other missiles came sailing from windows on both sides of the streets upon the policemen and as the crowd closed in with a rush, one of the policemen was badly stabbed in the back, the blade of the knife penetrating his lung.

The spirit of fight spread throughout the district and the policemen had a hard time ponding a lane through the mob. Man after man dropped out badly beaten or cut, until the casualty list totaled 30 on each side, with scores of others nursing small injuries.

No sooner had the police cleared the streets than there came a hurry call from a few hundred yards away from the original scene of battle, where the fleeing demonstrators had captured several street cars. The crowd compelled the passengers to alight and broke all the car windows, tore up the iron grill work from around the park trees and used the cars for target practice with missiles.

"HOLY ROLLERS" MENACED BY MOB

State Police Unable to Disperse Mob; Men Throw Sticks and Stones at Prisoners

Bound Brook, N. J., May 1.—At 1 o'clock this morning a crowd of "holy rollers" who sought refuge in the second floor of their "temple" from a mob, which attacked and wrecked the first floor, still were imprisoned and state police who arrived from Newburg and Franklin Park, were unable to drive away the mob that surrounded the church.

Before the troops arrived, one of the beleaguered churchmen stuck his head out of the window, but before he could finish his plea that the attackers disperse, he was pelted with stones which broke his window, the falling glass cutting his face.

Only eight state troopers arrived and their entreaties that the mob retreat, being unheeded.

The attackers refused outside the yard of the "temple" but refused to budge further.

In the meantime some of the mob damaged the 24 automobiles in which some of the "holy rollers" and some of their guests had come to the meeting. The windshields were broken, the tires slashed into strips, the engines hammered and the upholstery cut.

INVOKES MULLAN-GAGE ACT TO CLOSE UP TWO SALOONS

New York, May 1.—The Mulligan-Gage state prohibition act was invoked by District Attorney Patton for the first time today in an action to close two saloons on the ground that they were "common nuisances."

Mr. Patton obtained orders requiring George Matthews, Amsterdam avenue saloon keeper and Giuseppe Allen, keeper of a second avenue place, to cease tomorrow why their places should not be closed as public nuisances.

Matthews' saloon, according to Mr. Patton, has been raided eight times since April, 1921, and liquor has been seized on each occasion. Allen's place, he said, had been the scene of many successful raids.

SEEK TURKEY'S DESIRE ABOUT IMMIGRATION

Near East Conference Agitated Over Question of Whether Angora Government Will Swing Doors Open or Shut

QUOTE U. S. LAWS

Immigration Statutes of America Form Part of Discussion at Lausanne; Turks Want No Undesirables

(By the Associated Press.)
Lausanne, May 1.—The members of the Near East conference are agitated over the question whether Turkey will swing open her doors to immigration or shut them tight. The concern is caused by Turkey's intention to discuss the status of foreigners in Turkey.

Nobody denies Turkey's right to make her own immigration laws, but countries like Italy, with a surplus population, and Greece, whose people have a traditional liking for the shores of Asia Minor, are anxious to know if Angora has decided to hold Turkey for the Turks.

Quote American Laws
Although the American representatives did not participate in the discussion, the United States immigration laws were freely quoted in today's debate with respect to the residence of foreigners in Turkey and the conditions of their entry. The allies wanted them to have complete freedom to enter and establish themselves in Turkey subject only to the same restrictions as apply to the Turks.

Ismet Pasha immediately raised the point that this might interfere with Turkey's right to regulate immigration. The allies replied that they had no intention of limiting Turkey's authority to determine immigration but felt justified in asking what Turkey intended to do about immigration and if she contemplated preventing mass immigration, like the United States, with the quota system.

Turks Want No Undesirables
The allies contended that there was no such use in spending weeks laying down regulations for the exclusion of Turkey intended to shut the doors against immigration. Ismet Pasha, however, said that such was not Angora's idea, but Turkey wanted the right to keep other states to keep out undesirables.

A drafting committee will endeavor to write a satisfactory clause covering this subject.

FRENCH JAIL KRUPP HEAD

President of Industry in Prison With Three Directors of the Plant as Companions

(By the Associated Press.)
Essen, May 1.—In the jail at Wenden, not far from the villa Hugel, the home of the famous Krupp family, Dr. Gustav Krupp von Bodenau, president of the Krupp works, tonight is a prisoner of the French occupation authorities. He was taken into custody today by the French on connection with the riot at the Krupp plant here March 31, when 14 Germans were killed and a large number wounded by the French troops.

Dr. von Bodenau has as companions in the jail three directors of the Krupp works, Dr. Bruhn, chairman of the board, and Herr Gesterlin and Herr Hartwig, who have been incarcerated since they were arrested Easter morning, the day after the shooting. Von Bodenau and his associates are charged with conspiracy under which will entail terms of imprisonment of from 10 years to life, and the possibility of a death sentence, together with a fine of 100 million marks, but also are accused of violation of the French decree regarding the maintenance of order. This decree provides for imprisonment up to five years and a fine.

URGES FULLER CO-OPERATION

Grand Master Urges Masons to "Help Suffering Humanity and Save Civilization"

New York, May 1.—Fuller cooperation among Masons throughout the world "to help suffering humanity and save the civilization now in jeopardy," was urged today upon 1,200 delegates to the 122nd annual communication of the grand lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the state of New York by Supreme Justice Arthur S. Thompson of Nyack, grand master.

He recommended that the grand lodge of New York become a member of the Masonic International association, formed at Geneva in 1921. The delegates represented about 200,000 Masons in the state.

Reviewing the year's work, Justice Thompson said 21 new Masonic lodges were organized in 1922, among them one in the Republic of Finland and three in Romania.

Doing Good Work
The Sisters and Sisters' Meetings in New York, is now rating 10,000 members, women and children. The Massachusetts lodge is rated 10,000 members, women and children. The lodge at Sacramento, Calif., is rated 10,000 members, women and children. The lodge at Sacramento, Calif., is rated 10,000 members, women and children.

The grand master advocated a "month of Masonic publications," he said, "that do not correctly interpret Masonry. Thought and sometimes place our fraternity in a false light before the world. Some of them are Masonry's enemies and some are Masonry's friends. Some of them are Masonry's enemies and some are Masonry's friends."

"There are many so-called Masonic publications," he said, "that do not correctly interpret Masonry. Thought and sometimes place our fraternity in a false light before the world. Some of them are Masonry's enemies and some are Masonry's friends. Some of them are Masonry's enemies and some are Masonry's friends."

Some of these publications represent Masonry as the foe of the class or that creed, when as a matter of fact, Masonry is opposed to no creed or class, so long as there is nothing un-American or immoral in its teaching or activity."

MANY MEANS USED TO FIND LOST BOY

Radio, Publicity, Money, Police and Others Trying to Locate Alexander Laid

Schenectady, May 1.—Radio, money, publicity and police officers were being used in search for Verner Alexander, 6, only son of E. F. W. Alexander, chief engineers of the Radio Corporation of America, who was kidnapped from the yard of his home by an unidentified man yesterday afternoon.

The father, whose abilities have gone far to develop radio communication, tonight broadcast a personal appeal to radio enthusiasts throughout the country to assist Mr. Alexander and himself in locating their young son. Pictures of the boy have been sent throughout the country, and the publicity department of the General Electric company, a firm which Mr. Alexander serves as consulting engineer, was forwarding to newspapers of every type and tongue photographs, description and appeals for the return of the boy.

Offered $2,000 Reward
In addition Mr. Alexander has offered a reward of $2,000, which has been increased to $2,500 by the city of Schenectady, to persons who may furnish a clue which will lead to Verner's recovery.

Only one clue followed today, a promise to locate the boy, informed by a garage proprietor at Northville, near Glensville, that a touring car, driven by a man resembling the person who abducted Verner and containing a tall blond man and a boy stopped for gasoline last night and then went on. Detectives today traced the car to Utica and then the trail was lost.

Thirty six of the 75 persons who attended the convention, later been arrested, are being held in custody.

CONGRESS MAY ENACT ANOTHER "DRY" MEASURE

Both Sides of Liquor Controversy Planning to Make Law Over Completely as Result of Court Ruling

CABINET PUZZLED

Shipping Board Fleet Will Refrain From Sale of Intoxicants as Matter of Policy, Declares Lusk

Washington, May 1.—The liquor problem again became the paramount concern of the federal government today as a result of the decision of the supreme court drawing a prohibition deadline around the territories and internal waters of the United States. On the one side, officials turn their attention eagerly to the question of what to do in the face of the court's ruling that outside the three mile deadline American ships can become, under the present law, as wet as they desire.

On the other hand there arose a new cause for perplexity and international disagreement over the edict of the court, but no foreign ship can bring liquor inside the three mile limit despite the fact that some foreign nations require their ships by law to have liquor aboard and to serve it to their crews wherever they may be.

May Debat New Laws
Over these two features of the situation, President Harding and his cabinet put their heads together while officials of other interested agencies of the government were at work on lower tariff ends and ends of prohibition enforcement and while wet and dry in congress were devising devious schemes to make the law over entirely at the next session. The net result of the day's deliberations was for the most part negative, but there were many indications that developments involving every phase of the situation were in the immediate offing.

At the White House, before the cabinet meeting, Chairman Lusk of the shipping board declared with the President and cabinet members that the policy of the shipping board would stay dry as a matter of policy.

Daugherty Party Upheld
The treasury department, which is responsible for administration of the Volstead act, began likewise the preparation of a statement which will lay down the principles on which the decision of the highest court will be applied to shipping at American ports of arrival and departure.

Attorney General Daugherty, whose celebrated "bone dry" opinion was partly upheld and partly overthrown by the court, today issued a statement holding that the real effect was to strengthen the position taken by him in favor of drastic enforcement.

Among the foreign diplomats at the state department there were evidences that a pool used and perhaps delicate international exchange of views was in the making. Both the French and Italian governments require ships flying their flags to provide wine to the crews as a part of the regular ration, and the annual position of the state with respect to the French or Italian merchantman in an American port is fully expected here to give rise to vigorous representation by Paris and Rome, perhaps with the backing of London.

WHI ENFORCE LIQUOR LAW

Washington, May 1.—Announcement that the government in 26 days will begin to "enforce" the law as interpreted by the supreme court to prohibit American and foreign ships from carrying liquor with them in the three-mile limit, was made tonight by Attorney General Daugherty.

Explaining that the supreme court decision would become effective in 26 days, Mr. Daugherty in a formal statement, in which he discussed yesterday's decision, declared that he considered the decision "a severe agency as my command. I intend to enforce the law without favor, partiality or discrimination."

WARDS WIN FIGHT

CHAMPION HOPPE IS IMPROVING IN PLAY

Really Remarkable How He Manages to Hold On to Balk-Line Billiard Championship.

It is really remarkable how that man Hoppe manages to hang on to the balk-line billiard championship.

He held it for years and years, and then young Jake Schaefer, a real chip of the old block, took it from him, only to have it won back again by Hoppe the year after.

Then Schaefer challenged him some days ago, and while at first it looked as if he would wrest the title from Hoppe again, he wound up 150 points behind him when the whole thing was over.

It was a match of three sessions of 300 points each, and it really did look as if there was nothing to it but Schaefer during the first evening.

Hoppe played a wretched game. Seldom had he shown himself to such disadvantage.

He was off in his stroke, and what is particularly strange for him, seemed very nervous.

When the first night's play was over, Schaefer had finished his first block of 500, and Hoppe only made 277, or 223 behind him.

To most billiard players that would have been an almost unescapable barrier to winning the tourney, but not so to Hoppe.

Whatever happened to him on the first night is hard to explain, for he could hardly have been so sure of himself, hardly have taken such chances as to deliberately let his rival get that far ahead of him.

On the second night, however, he was entirely himself again. He kept nursing the balls against the rail and got 80 caroms in a field less than six inches square.

His high run was 143.

Schaefer during this competition only managed to secure 494 points, and Hoppe actually got 723, thereby filling the two blocks of 500 each, for the first and second nights.

Then he started the third and last night with only six ahead of Schaefer, but by wonderful manipulation of the balls, and absolute sang-froid, managed to run out at a time when Schaefer had only a total for the three evenings of 1,341 to his credit.

Who the next challenger will be is hard to tell, but it may be decided by an elimination process.

Olson Places Himself as an Assistant Coach

"I have just figured out what my job on this ball club is," said Ivan Olson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' veteran infielder, at camp the other day. "From now on I consider myself nothing but a coach. I think I'll have to do it to sit on the bench looking wise, and every now and then I'll give the second assistant coach a little advice. About the middle of July I might have to go in and take the place of some young infielder who may be showing signs of slipping. That will be a pretty good time to start the season. If they want me to play before then I will be ready. Everybody likes their base hits, and I am no exception."

Vincent Richards

Vincent Richards, the youthful American tennis star, played an exhibition game on the courts of the Princess hotel, Bermuda, with Hon. F. M. B. Fisher of New Zealand. Richards won the first two and only two sets played by a score of 6-0 and 12-10.

Cleveland to Experiment With Full-Blooded Indian

Cleveland this year is going to experiment with a full-blooded redskin from the Huron tribe. The latest Indian to break into the big leagues is a left-hander, and the combination of wrong-handedness and Indian blood should produce some colorful moments in the life of Manager "Spoke" Speaker, player-manager of the Cleveland Indians. Moses Yellowhorse, the Indian twirler with Pittsburgh last season, will play out on the coast this year, as he went West in the deal for Kutz.

One Club Not Enough

Ira Thomas and the millionaire all men associated with him in ownership of the Shreveport Texas league club have more money than they can spend. They also have bought a controlling interest in the Meridian club of the Cotton States league.

A total of 4,534 horses took part in racing programs throughout England last season. The total for North America was 5,042.

Charles William Novak of the St. Joseph Western league club goes back to the Dakota league. He has been sold to the Aberdeen club.

Jimmy Johnston, once regular third baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will be seen at shortstop this season, barring injuries to himself.

Bobby Jones, Atlanta's famous boy wonder at golf, celebrated his twenty-first birthday a few days ago. He is studying at Harvard university.

Jim McGuire, veteran catcher, minor league manager and later agent and coach for the Detroit Tigers, is in bad health at his home near Albion, Mich.

Yale basketball, hockey, wrestling and swimming teams have all come through, so it will be up to the Eli baseball and football outfits to round out a banner year.

Herman Hathaway 24, winner of all but one of his heats in the 126 pound class in the dual meets, has been elected captain of the Northwestern university wrestling team.

SATISFIED WITH BROTHER'S MANAGEMENT OF MC ESTATE

New York, May 1.—Mrs. Margaret Brady Farrell, daughter of the late Anthony N. Brady, and a life beneficiary of one of the trusts created under the terms of his will, in a statement Monday denied she was a party to accounting proceedings against her brother, Nicholas F. and James C. Brady, and the Central Union Trust Company of New York, as executors and trustees of her father's estate.

Mrs. Farrell said she was satisfied with the manner of administering the estate and managing the trusts and expressed complete confidence in her brothers. The accounting suit was brought in behalf of her sisters, Mrs. Francis P. Garvin and Mrs. Carl Tucker, upon accounts for 1913 and 1920, it was said.

E. Palmer Gavitt, beneficiary with his daughter, Marcia Ann Gavitt, of one of the four trusts through his attorney, also objected to the examination of the executors and trustees and expressed confidence in them.

PARCEL POST HANDLING MAY BE REVOLUTIONIZED

Washington, May 1.—A general reorganization of the plans of handling parcel post packages, which would revolutionize the whole service is under investigation by the post office department. It would provide for the sorting and distributing of the larger packages at warehouses adjacent to railroad stations and possibly for special types of railway cars to carry them.

Under the plan, proposed by Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general, parcel post packages exceeding one cubic foot in size, and weighing more than 10 pounds, would be separated from the regular mail and handled in the warehouses. Such a course, it is explained, would conserve expensive post office space, eliminate double hauls, and speed delivery. The regular mail service would benefit in a like ratio.

The prize speaking contest was held at the Unadilla plant in May's hall. The program opened with a selection by the school orchestra. Reuben Smith was the first speaker, giving a declamation entitled, "A Harvard-Yale Football Game." This was followed by "The Perfect Tribute," which was very well given by Esther Kehr. A solo, "Out of the Dark," was given by Ada L. Butler. Kenneth Griffin then gave the declamation "The Execution of Major Andre." A humorous selection was given by Mary Loos, whose recitation on how "Grandma Keeler gets Grandpa Keeler ready for Sunday School" was very realistic. The "Soul of the Violin" was very well given by Esther Young. The school orchestra then gave a selection. The last two speakers were Mildred Finkles, who gave "Two Little Confederates," and Everett Ashe, whose topic was "Gordon's Reprise."

The program was closed by selections by the Girls' Glee club and the school orchestra. All of the participants did very well and a great deal of credit was due Miss Kilpatrick, who drilled them. "Miss Molly" Presented.

on Friday night, the Christian Endeavor of the Baptist church presented the comedy, entitled "Miss Molly." Fred Trumbull, who very creditably took the part of a woman-hater, was probably the hero in the play. The efforts of the other characters made to change his belief led them into several rather tight places. Other active characters in the play were Mrs. G. M. Case, the misogynist's thin sister, Carrie Morris, his niece, Leo Sisson, his ward, Andrew Stenell, his colored servant, Hattie Gilbert, a girl from "Noo York," and to each man, manners, and Mrs. E. S. Davy, a colored girl and Naomi Graham, a tilted lady, were also necessary characters. The Baptist orchestra gave a number of very good selections. The play was well attended by both townspeople and people from out of town.

AN AMERICA WITHOUT FORESTS.

The April issue of "Safeguarding America Against Fire," which is the official organ of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, contains an article under the above caption which will be of interest to every citizen of our country who is interested in the preservation of the wooded areas of our nation.

Without its forests, what would the United States be like, says Safeguarding America? The question is not by any means an idle one. Since every year lumbering operations and fires are subtracting more than 5,000,000 acres from an already slender residue of timberland.

Among the more obvious results of complete deforestation would be, of course, the virtual elimination of lumber for building and other purposes, and dependence—total, where it is now partial—upon importation of wood pulp for the making of newspaper, or else reliance upon substitutes not yet successfully evolved.

Radical changes in climate would soon make themselves felt, following the parched condition of the soil over great areas that now retain moisture by virtue of their blanketing of trees. Agriculture and vegetation of all kinds would suffer alternate drenching and baking, for our streams and rivers and artificial systems of irrigation would be deprived of the gradual feeding that is the indispensable service of the forests; waterways would be swollen to dangerous proportions of day and night almost all but dry. Demand for food almost invariably have followed forest depletion in the neighborhood of water-courses.

There would be a general and comparatively rapid shift of terrain, if the forests were obliterated; the soil of mountain slopes in time would give way, for no interlacing tree-roots would remain to keep it in place. The country's water supply would be thick with silt and, even if unimpaired, would create new problems in filtration. Development of water power also would be retarded.

All this, of course, takes no account of the inevitable extinction of practically all the valuable species of wild animal life, nor of the withdrawal of the purifying influence upon the atmosphere exerted by the forest ranges. What too of the loss of landscape beauty? An America shorn of its woodlands, and subjected to the effects of deforestation, would present a picture utterly barren and despicable. It is not, perhaps, too much to say that mental and physical decadence in time would ensue. Those to whom this picture of desolation seems overdrawn are invited to inquire into the history of China.

A sensible program of enforced reforestation on timberlands that are privately owned—representing about four-fifths of the country's remaining resources—is imperative. So, also, is the liberal expenditure of public funds for fire protection and for popular education in conservation. Every individual visiting our forests can do his part by exercising the utmost caution in building camp fires and in disposing of lighted matches and smoking materials.

THE GUIDE POST—BY HENRY VANDYKE

How to Spoil a Boy

His father had not displeased him at any time in saying, "Why hast thou done so?"—1 Kings 1:4.

That was the reason why Adonijah went wrong.

His father never took him into his confidence, never reasoned with him, never asked him to think what he was doing and what the consequences might be.

Therefore, the boy did what he liked and what other people did not like.

Therefore, the young man was no better than a headstrong boy, bigger but no wiser.

Therefore, the pampered prince became a rebel and a traitor and died by violence.

Therefore, his father, King David, having spotted him, had to suffer with him.

The process of spoiling a child may be very pleasant at the time, but in the end the results are very painful. The sins of the fathers are visited on the children; and then—the sins of the children are thrown back upon the fathers.

If the younger generation is wild and reckless, it is not the older generation at fault.

Discipline is as needful to a child as training a colt, or pruning to a fruit tree. But with a child the discipline must be rooted in reason.

"Why hast thou done so?" is the first question. With that question begins.

How many fathers and mothers ask it patiently and lovingly nowadays?

SELECTED SCHOOL THIRTY

Sanford A. Shepherd Chosen to Head District of Oneonta Town After Interesting Contest—To Form Parents-Teachers' Association.

Sanford A. Shepherd was reelected trustee for three years of School District Number Six of the town of Oneonta at a largely attended and most interesting meeting held at the Plains school building last evening. Mr. Shepherd was opposed for reelection by T. H. Powell and a bitter fight, stretching back over several months, was waged. Steps were taken at the meeting toward the creation of a Parents-Teachers' association and toward the use of the school building for other than school purposes, and women were present at the meeting.

The fight over the trusteeship was waged between two groups of citizens of the district, one group believing that Mr. Shepherd was opposed to the hiring of more teachers, a pressing need in their estimation and the others holding that Mr. Shepherd was right in refusing to add more instructors to the payroll. Such action would only increase taxation and was not needed, they contended. The persons opposing Mr. Shepherd pointed to the fact that certain grades have been on pay-roll time as proof that more teachers are needed.

In accordance with the nomination Mr. Shepherd, Mr. Kitchin gave a long speech pointing out the good work that Mr. Shepherd had done and stating that in his opinion all would be well at the school if more efficient methods of administration were employed by the principal. He stated that he wanted the school to be as good as any in the country but was unalterably opposed to any increase in taxation. The vote for Mr. Shepherd was approximately two to one. Leon Potter was chairman of the meeting. E. Parks Lyke was reelected clerk of the district over Arthur Baker and Frank Bissell was unopposed for reelection as collector and treasurer. His bond was fixed at $2,000. The report of the trustees was given by Mr. Shepherd and Mr. Bissell's general budget report was read by Rev. Wilbur C. Dodge. A motion was carried to empower the trustees to expend not more than $300 to purchase chairs for the assembly room. Mrs. Robert Lake urged the use of the school as a community center and told of how the organization of a Parents-Teachers' association would aid in solving many of the problems of the district. Mr. Shepherd placed the amount of the budget for this year at $3,000.

Following the meeting a number of those interested in a Parents-Teachers' association met and discussed the matter. It was decided to hold a meeting at the school on Tuesday evening, May 15, at which time a suitable entertainment would be given and a suitable plan of organization for the association presented. Mrs. Robert Lake, Mrs. Charles Brandon, Mrs. George Fowler and Mrs. Arthur Dean were appointed a committee to arrange for this meeting.

Other District Meetings.

There were ten present at the school meeting at West Oneonta last evening. Frank Potter was elected trustee. George White clerk, Ernest Smith collector and E. F. Arnold treasurer.

District No. 10 on South Side elected Justin Smith trustee, Wilson Coe collector, and Clark Taylor clerk. There were seven present.

In the Slade district Robert Foster was elected trustee, Frank Toke collector and E. G. Rathbun clerk. This is known as district No. 15 and the pupils are being brought to the city schools.

SLIPSHOD DAIRYMEN DOOMED

Man Who Thinks Cows Will Take Care of Themselves Out of Running, Says George E. Hogue in Address.

No longer is there a place in New York state for the happy-go-lucky slipshod dairyman who thinks that cows will take care of and milk themselves, declared George E. Hogue, assistant commissioner of the department of farms and markets, in a recent address on "The Future of Dairying in New York State" at the state college of agriculture at Ithaca. Not is there a future for the man who has no interest in, or love of, his profession. This type of man will be eliminated as dairy farmers, he said.

Mr. Hogue declared that this is no time for men to become discouraged or pessimistic, or to brood over existing conditions, which can only be rendered worse by such an attitude. "We need in the dairy profession today brave, stalwart men," he said, "men who are able to stand prosperity and adversity in their turn, men with an abiding faith in the dairy cow as the foster mother of the world and the farmer's best friend."

This means men of vision, who can turn men who are able to labor and wait for the new day which is sure to dawn.

"With the campaign of advertising milk and milk products being carried on by the Dairymen's league and others, the 'milky way' will soon be expanded to every part of the world. This, with the ever increasing population of our cities, should lend some encouragement to dairymen to continue in their chosen profession."

THE HARTWICK CONFERENCE

Good Attendance and Much Interest Manifested—Pagan by Ladies' Guild Tonight.

There was a good attendance at each of the sessions of the Hartwick conference held at the Lutheran church on Tuesday. Following the general theme of "Fellowship," which was the subject of the address by Rev. P. M. Luther on Monday evening, the speakers of the morning, who were Dr. Cronk, Deltz and Ottman, Revs. W. G. Bomhower, W. E. Pierce and Dr. B. E. Fiske, spoke on Congregational Stewardship, and in the afternoon Dr. Zinsmeister, Rev. Wolford, Lippard and Leitzel, discussed the broader theme of "Synodical Stewardship."

At the election Rev. P. M. Luther was named as president for the coming year, Rev. W. G. Bomhower of Cobleskill, vice president, and Rev. G. R. Swartz of Central Bridge, secretary-treasurer. The time and place of the next meeting will be left to the executive committee.

Last evening a delicious luncheon was served at the Killbuck restaurant, at which 25 ministers and laymen were present. Following the luncheon the party adjourned to the church, where F. W. Martensen, president of the Federated Lutheran Brotherhoods of Brooklyn and Long Island, delivered an interesting and profitable address.

The exercises of anniversary week will continue this evening with an entertainment given under the auspices of the Ladies' guild. The entertainment will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and will consist of a pageant, "Women of the Bible," in which, beginning with Sarah, wife of Abraham, and ending with Dorcas Electa, typical women of scripture times, will be presented. All are cordially invited to attend. There will be a silver collection at the door. Tomorrow evening there will be a special anniversary service, at which the principal address will be given by Rev. Henry Mankin of Washington, D. C., who was the first pastor of the church.

Since thrift is the topic now, you might repeat these sayings by Franklin to your little boy:

"Tis as truly folly for the poor to ape the rich as for the frog to swell in order to equal the ox."

"Pride breakfasted with plenty, dined with poverty and supped with infamy."

"Be industrious and free. Be frugal and free."

"Thrift is important, not that it means money saved or power to indulge your fancies, but because it means freedom."

Beyond the Three-Mile Limit

More than 12 hours of continuous dancing is prohibited in New York now. So these terpsichorean demons danced onto a truck, thence onto a launch and went out beyond the three-mile limit where the law couldn't touch them. KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

David Graham of Cooperstown Killed Near Warrsville When Motor Car Struck and Turned Somersault—Ernest Lippitt, a Companion, Slightly Injured.

Cooperstown, May 1.—David Graham, 21, a popular young resident of this village, was fatally hurt and Ernest Lippitt, his companion, received minor injuries when the automobile in which they were driving to Albany skidded, struck a stump by the side of the road and turned a complete somersault on the state road about two miles west of Warrsville, near Cobleskill, at about 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Graham died about an hour after the accident. Lippitt is now in the Mary Imogene Bassett hospital in Cooperstown but aside from minor cuts and bruises is unhurt.

The young men were driving to Albany where Graham intended to secure a chauffeur's license as he had just been hired to drive the delivery truck for the new laundry to be started at the New Fenimore hotel. They were riding in Graham's car, an Overland sedan, with the owner at the wheel. The accident occurred on a curve at the end of a long stretch of straight road. As the car came into the curve it skidded, hit a stump, bounded into two telephone poles and finally turned a complete somersault. Both men were thrown through the windshield.

Graham, who was unconscious when picked up, was taken to a nearby home, the home of a Methodist Episcopal clergyman. There he died about an hour after the accident. A few cuts on his face and a broken wrist were the only external indications of injury and it was thought that death might have resulted from shock, his heart being naturally weak.

Following a coroner's inquest the body was brought late this afternoon to Cooperstown. Lippitt was brought to Cooperstown and taken to the Bassett hospital where it was ascertained that his injuries were but slight.

David Graham was born in Cooperstown March 13, 1902 and was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Graham. Surviving him are his wife, who was Helen Merrett, one child, William Frederick Graham, and the parents. He was a former student of the Cooperstown High school and a young man well liked and respected in the community.

The funeral will be held on Friday at 2 p. m. from the home of his parents, 55 Beaver street. Rev. M. L. Yates, rector of Christ Episcopal church, will officiate. Interment will be made in Lakewood cemetery.

FURNERAL CORPORA MATICE

Large Attendance at Services for the late Mrs. George Baird, held at the home of the deceased, 1001 Main Street, Oneonta, N. Y., on Tuesday, May 1, 1923.

The funeral services for the late Mrs. George Baird, held at the home of the deceased, 1001 Main Street, Oneonta, N. Y., on Tuesday, May 1, 1923, were attended by a large number of friends. The services were conducted by Rev. M. L. Yates, rector of Christ Episcopal church. The body was taken to the church, where Mr. Herrick conducted the service. Following his brief, appropriate remarks, Captain Daniel E. Fox of Troop C read a fine, well-deserved and touching tribute to the work and memory of the departed.

After leaving the church a detail of state troopers led the procession, followed by the hearse and immediately behind it the horse of Trooper Mattice, riderless, with saddle trimmed in black, and boots reversed, and led by a trooper. Another detachment of troopers closed the cortege. A pathetic feature of the service at Sidney was in connection with the horse ridden by Corporal Mattice. To his mount he was intensely devoted, and the horse, which was about 10 years old, followed the hearse, stood during the funeral in front of the church. During the service the faithful animal kept up an almost continuous pleading whinny, as though to call back again the rider whom so much he loved. It was such an evidence of almost human devotion as brought tears to the eyes of many who heard it.

From Sidney the cortege left at about 10:30 for Oneonta, which was reached at about 2 p. m. At that place a large number of relatives, friends and former neighbors awaited the procession, which included Captain Fox, Lieut. Faber, and 22 members of Troop C, acting as escort, bearers and mourners; Rev. Mr. Herrick, Messrs. B. C. Broadfoot, F. A. Bartley, J. Henry Brady, H. J. Spencer, Charles Neidlinger, B. C. Fairbanks and Dr. H. Loomis of the Barrecks corporation, and Frank E. Brown, Mrs. C. E. Simons, Mrs. William Turk and Mrs. C. E. Bird, representing the village.

Oneonta was represented at the funeral by Chief of Police Frank N. Horton, Sergeant Howard Odell, Edward Barnes and Sergeant D. D. Brown and Officer M. Parsons of the D. & H. police. District Attorney Adrian A. Pierson and Sheriff Fred S. Williams were among the county officials present.

At Oneonta there was service in the Lutheran church, with address by Mr. Herrick, prayer by the local pastor and the reading of the tribute by Captain Fox. The committal was by Mr. Herrick. Following the service a detachment of troopers fired three revolver volleys over the grave of their comrade and Trooper Baker, with tears rolling down his cheeks, sounded taps on the bugle. A delegation from state headquarters and a detachment of troopers from the barracks at Troy were present at the interment service.

Funeral of Mrs. Hamilton F. Slade. Funeral services for the late Mrs. Hamilton F. Slade, notice of whose death appeared in The Star of Monday, were held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Palmer in Waverly, Rev. A. L. Caldwell of the First Presbyterian church of that city being the officiating clergyman. Following the service, the departure was at once made for Oneonta, where the cortege arrived at about five o'clock. Interment was in the family plot in Riverside cemetery, where a goodly number of friends residing in Oneonta were assembled. The committal service was read by Rev. Dr. James C. Russell of the First Presbyterian church of Oneonta. Dr. Farley, her former pastor in Oneonta being unavoidably out of the city. There were many beautiful flowers, the affectionate remembrances of friends in Waverly and this city.

The bearers in Oneonta were John Slade, George S. Slade, Dr. A. B. Barnes, E. E. Ford, Harry M. Goldsmith and Roscoe C. Briggs. Accompanying the body to this city were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Palmer, H. Slade Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Van H. Pray, Judge Frank A. Bell and John T. Sutor of Waverly and Mrs. Hiram Paulding of Huntington, L. I.

MRS. ROBINSON DEAD.

Life-Long Resident of Hartwick Succumbs at Age of Eighty.

Hartwick, May 1.—Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer Robinson died at the home of her son, Seymour, in this village this evening at about 5:30 o'clock as the result of pneumonia which she suffered about a month ago, which at her advanced age left her physically weakened. Interment will be in the Hartwick Union burying ground.

THE APRIL WEATHER

Three and a Fourth Inches of Rainfall, Most of it in Two Days.

The April report for the Oneonta station of the government weather bureau shows mean maximum temperature of 56 2-15 degrees, mean minimum of 38 17-30 degrees and a mean for the month of 42 17-50. The highest temperature was 80 degrees on the 25th, and the minimum was zero on the first, the greatest daily range being 49 degrees on the 27th.

The April rainfall was 3.28 inches, which, though only about the normal amount, was more than four times as much as that of March. Most of it, however, fell on two days—1.18 inches on the fifth and 1.52 inches on the 25th. The only snowfall was half an inch on the 11th, though on four other days there were slight flurries, not enough to measure.

As usual the prevailing winds were from the west, though on six days it was from the north and on one day from the south. The average temperature for April, 1922, was 42.2 degrees, which is almost exactly the same as this year, and the rainfall was 2.30 inches, being only .02 of an inch more than this year.

BOGUS EARL WINS FORTUNE BY FRAUD

Lives in Luxury on $40.50 for Stationery.

NOW LANGRISHES IN PRISON

Bought $100,000 Estate in Michigan on Payment of But $1,000—Duplicated Two Wives, One of Whom Lived Modestly in Toronto. While the Other Traveled Around With Him Under the Title of "Countess of Dunblane"—Mystery About His Past.

What two boxes of crested stationery, worth a paltry $40.50, will do for a man when judiciously employed could be related by "Earl" of Dunblane, alias A. J. Walker Grieg, now residing in the state prison at Jackson, Mich., under sentence as an embezzler, says the New York World.

Among other things, that crested stationery helped obtain for "Earl" of Dunblane, a wealthy consort, a Chicago woman, who automatically became the "Countess," they helped obtain for him a former millionaire's estate of 1,700 acres at Chelvey, Mich., and a life of opulence for a period of years, and they helped to maintain in Toronto in comfort, if not in luxury, a second establishment consisting of a wife and eight children whose existence naturally was unknown to the "Countess" of Chicago and Chelvey.

Had the Grand Manner.

Crested stationery did not accomplish all this unaided. There were in addition several suits of expensive tweeds. There was a black ribboned necktie, a pair of aristocratic gloves, or held deftly in long slim fingers to emphasize conversation. There was also a thick yellow cane and the grand manner. The combination was impressive. A great many persons, both men and women, to their regret, found it irresistible.

As stated, the "Earl's" meteoric career was based partially on an original investment of $40.50. The word investment is misleading. For so far the $40.50 stationery bill has not been paid.

About four years ago "Dunblane" began his campaign in Chicago and Michigan. In Chicago he met Sara Turngreen, reputed to be wealthy, and the divorced wife of Wilbur Dye. They were married at St. Mar, Mich. in January, 1919. "Dunblane" gave his residence as Nottingham, Eng., his age as thirty-six, his occupation as English barrister, and his previous state as "single." Nevertheless he was then, as subsequently, going to Toronto every second week-end with a check for $100 for Christina Grieg and her family. When he couldn't come personally, as developed in recent months, he sent the funds by mail.

Were Paying Guests.

After the "Earl" and the "Countess" were married they went to Chicago. Her two children were put in a private school. He and she lived with her parents, the Turngreens.

"We were their paying guests," said the "Earl" in answer to the prosecution's query as to how he, the "Earl of Dunblane," had come to live with his father-in-law.

It must not be supposed that the "Earl" was lazy and inactive, or that he expected his new wife's family to support him. His whole life as far as known has been a peculiarly active one. And so after a reasonable interruption warranted by such an event as marriage, "Dunblane" appeared in Detroit, where he floated a company known as the "Title Guarantee and Casualty Company." He became its president and sales manager. And here "Dunblane" was in his element. The tweeds, the pince-nez, the yellow cane, the grand manner and, when it could be introduced, the crest, were irresistible. He found Michigan selling stock. He also sold stock in Ontario.

An era of great prosperity for "Dunblane" set in. He and the "Countess" lived at the best hotels. In northern Michigan, at Chelvey, he discovered a magnificent estate formerly owned by a millionaire, but falling into disrepair. It had 1,700 acres overlooking gray water. It had a winding driveway half a mile long leading through evergreens up to the four-story mansion which, with its huge gray tower, was under the name of "The Earl." Just the setting for the "Earl of Dunblane."

So he bought it at a price of $120,000, of which $10,000 was cash and $110,000 mortgage. A large mortgage. But who was not for the "Earl of Dunblane"? The estate needed repairs. So workers were called in, while the "Earl" and "Countess" went traveling.

They spent several months in Montreal. There he organized another company and became president of it. And every two weeks, when possible, "Dunblane" took a train for Toronto, where he became A. J. Walker Grieg and delivered $100 to Christina Grieg.

Subscribers Become Suspicious.

And now the more prosaic and solid part of the adventures of "Dunblane" must be told. It seems inappropriate that such a revelation should be made in a newspaper, but now money and the high road embezzlement must come. When "Dunblane" Michigan company got its charter the Michigan securities commission requested that the company, during its stock-selling activities, should deposit 25 per cent of its stock sale proceeds in a joint account between the company and the commission. But "Dunblane" through accident or mistake or other reason, opened up accounts of his own. In particular he had one account at St. Ignace, Mich., and in particular he sent from there the sum of $20,000, part of the proceeds of a stock subscription by Mary E. Miller, one of the several who subsequently had charges of theft by embezzlement.

It was a long time before "Dunblane's" subscribers became suspicious. When they did warrants were issued simultaneously in Michigan and in London and Aymer, Ont. It was, however, Sheriff Weaver of Chelvey, who located "Dunblane" and the "Countess" living in La Corona hotel, Montreal. The "Earl" registered under the name of James O'Malley. "Dunblane" did not fight extradition but returned immediately to Chelvey for trial.

Admits the Facts.

At the trial "Dunblane" admitted the facts concerning the Mary E. Miller subscription. He had acted in ignorance, he said. He said many other things, but he was convicted and sentenced to from two and a half to five years.

It is estimated that, all told, "Dunblane" sold $200,000 of stock.

There is still much mystery about his past, but so far as can be learned he was born in Aberdeen of poor parents. As a child he ran around the streets with no shoes or stockings, his clothes in tatters. Developing a taste for reading, he made himself what he is today, a man of learning and culture.

At twenty he married a Scotchwoman, who became Christina Grieg. They dwelt in Aberdeen. Several years passed and several children blessed the union. Grieg and his family then moved to Nottingham, where he formed his first association with the insurance business. He appears to have had some dealings with the Scottish Union and National Insurance company, but he was not there long. In the witness box he said that he had assisted Sir Herbert Croft to organize another insurance company there.

Ten years ago Grieg appeared in Canada. He established himself as a barrister at Moose Jaw. He bought a 600-acre farm in Saskatchewan, he bought 10,000 prairie acres near Regina. In 1914 he had filled such a place in Moose Jaw society that he ran for mayor, but received only 67 votes. About that time he became involved in a deal over lot titles and quit-claim deeds.

On the Move.

He was arrested, allowed out on bail, and departed hurriedly for points east. He turned up in Lowell, Mass. Here he lived with an elder brother, and here he brought his family from Scotland. Here he organized another insurance company. But again he moved suddenly.

Next his family are heard of at Ann Arbor, Mich., and then they came to Toronto.

Grieg himself says his mother's name was Christina Tait Milne, his father's Alexander, marquis of Dunblane. To a Toronto Star reporter he said he was an M. A. from Aberdeen, a barrister-at-law from Edinburgh, a fellow of the Engineering Institute of Scotland, and a fellow of the Royal Scottish Geographical Society.

Books of reference show that the title Viscount Dunblane belongs to the earl of Leves. In the witness box Grieg said his mother's father was the youngest brother of the earl of Leves. The fact was not recorded in Burke's Peerage, but it should be, he said. "Have you hitherto with reality?" asked the prosecution. "I have associated with noblemen," replied Grieg with dignity.

Wise as Father.

In court in the presence of the "Countess" Grieg was asked about his Toronto wife and family. There was some confusion as to how many of the eight children are now. Eventually he told the judge Christina Grieg was twenty-eight and had four children when he married her.

The status of his marriage to the "Countess" or of his previous marriage to Christina has not yet been officially inquired into, although Judge Sample, when sentencing Grieg, put it on record that he wished allegations of bigamy and of perjury to be investigated.

Christina Grieg resolutely refused to go to Chelvey from Toronto for the trial. To reporters she gave the impression of suffering from shock, and expressed the greatest incredulity concerning the revelation about her husband's financial and marital adventures in the United States.

The "Countess" Sara remained loyal all through the earlier stages of Grieg's trial. She sent books, among others, "This Freedom," to the jail, and called when she could. At the unhappy conclusion of the trial she became hysterical. But when the existence of Christina Grieg in Toronto was revealed, she hastened to inaugurate an independent inquiry on her own account.

Grieg on his arrival at Jackson jail to serve his sentence found some appreciation. "What about this earl stuff?" asked the warden when Grieg was presented. "Is it true or is it bunk?" Then when Grieg had answered, the warden extended his hand. "Shake," he said. "After all these murderers and bootleggers it is a great pleasure to meet a real high-class crook."

Man Postpones His Funeral

"I am 64 years old and for just two years have been suffering so badly from stomach and liver troubles, bloating and other attacks that I did not expect to live more than a few months and was arranging my affairs, and even my funeral. Three days of Mr. Grieg's wonderful knowledge have entirely cured me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the material poison from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis, to subside, with comfort or money refunded at druggists everywhere.

WOMEN FOUGHT AS SOLDIERS

Pension Records Disclose One in '76 and One in '61.

BOTH REAL "FIGHTING MEN"

The unique records of two women serving as private soldiers, one throughout the Revolutionary war and another in the Civil war, fighting on the battlefields and being wounded, have just been discovered in the pension bureau files.

Both women, one from Illinois, succeeded in hiding their sex from the other soldiers, and the fact that they were women was only disclosed when they were awarded pensions. Their names are Deborah Gannett and "Albert" D. J. Cashier, or Hodgers, and they are the only women in American history who were paid pensions for actual military service.

The first of these women warriors was Deborah Gannett, of Massachusetts. She enlisted April, 1781, in a Massachusetts regiment commanded by Col. Henry Jack on under the assumed name of Robert Sharrett, and served until November, 1782, as a private soldier, when she was honorably discharged.

Fought at Tarrytown.

She fought at Tarrytown, where she was wounded, and was in the ranks when Lord Cornwallis was captured. Her real identity was revealed after the war, and in 1876 Congress passed a special bill for the relief of her heirs, awarding them a pension in which she was described as "Deborah Gannett, a soldier of the revolution."

The second woman was Albert D. J. Cashier, whose real name was Hodgers, but whose Christian name was never revealed. She enlisted as a private in Company G, Ninety-fifth Illinois Infantry, in August, 1861. At the time she joined she was nineteen, with blue eyes and auburn hair. She gave her occupation as a farmer and her residence at Belvidere, Ill.

She went through the entire campaign with the Ninety-fifth Illinois Infantry, was in the engagements leading to the fall of Vicksburg, including a charge against the besieged city. She also participated in the Jackson and East Meridian raids, the Red River expedition, capture of Fort De Russy, and the battles of Old River, Clontarville, Mansura and Yellow Bayou.

In Thickest of Fight.

In April, 1862, she was in the thickest of the fight of Guntown, Miss., where the regiment lost heavily in killed and wounded. Later she participated in the battle of Nashville and the pursuit of General Hood's defeated army, and was at Franklin, Columbia, Palaski, Lawrenceburg and East Port.

After being discharged, she returned to Illinois and worked on a farm breeding cattle. Later she was awarded a pension and became an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Quincy, Ill., and remained there except for intervals, when she engaged in farm labor on farms in Boone, Kanebake and Livingston counties in Illinois.

It was on one of these occasions, while employed by State Senator Lisk of Sennett, Ill., that she was struck by an automobile, and it was while receiving surgical attention that her secret was discovered. She pleaded with the physicians not to reveal her sex. She died at Watertown, Ill., in 1915.

An investigation of her early life conducted by the pension bureau resulted in the discovery that she was born in Clochar Head, Ireland, where with a twin brother, she lived sheep and dressed in male attire because she could do her work better.

Disconcerting.

A French dancer who at one time held the office of magistrate was about to perform the civil rite of marriage. "Mlle. N." he said, "do you agree to take this man for your wedded husband?" After the woman had replied in the affirmative, the mayor, turning to the bridegroom, delivered himself as follows: "Prisoner, what have you to say in your defense?"

Mending With Rivets.

Many things that cannot be soldered, can be mended with common copper rivets. These may be bought at any hardware store in assorted sizes for a small sum. A galvanized wash tub can be mended in this way, or a fireproof safe, unless the leak is on the top. It is possible that even then a rivet might hold the leak.

L. Stevenson.

COW GOES CALLING IN APARTMENT BUILDING

Man at Door Calls Cop Instead of Inviting Her In.

New York—Patrick Marino of No. 472 Humboldt street, Brooklyn, was fast asleep early the other morning when a peculiar bumping noise on the stairway outside awakened him. He listened, and it sounded like nothing he had ever heard in the way of noise before.

The noise arrived at his apartment door and there was a scrape and a knock. Marino took a baseball bat and answered the door. He was greeted by the friendly moo of a large, socially-inclined cow.

Marino lives on the second floor, and wondered how the visitor had negotiated the 40 steps. He decided it was too hefty a problem for himself, and engaged the cow in conversation while another member of the family sent a call for the nearest policeman, who happened to be Frank McCormick of the Terbert street station.

McCormick viewed the cow and decided she was too big a problem for him to tackle. He telephoned Lieutenant Fife at the Herbert street station. Fife dispatched the reserves, with plenty of rope and a block and tackle to extricate the cow from the hallway.

She proved docile enough and they finally got her out. She was taken to police station, and investigation developed she had been one of a herd landed at North Henry street and driven to the slaughter house of Bernstein & Bernstein, No. 222 Johnson avenue. A representative of the company claimed her.

There Is No Other Food Like Grape-Nuts

WHILE practically every man, woman and child in the English-speaking world knows Grape-Nuts as a delicious, nourishing and wholesome cereal, and while it is common knowledge that Grape-Nuts with milk or cream is a complete food, many housewives do not know of the appetizing and economical dishes that can be prepared with Grape-Nuts. It lends itself, we believe, to more uses than any other cereal. The convenience and economy of Grape-Nuts, and the flavor, zest and wholesomeness which it imparts to other food, make it invaluable in every home.

Frequently we receive interesting letters from women throughout the country, telling about the attractive dishes they make with Grape-Nuts—delicious puddings, salads, dressings for fowls, etc. No doubt there are thousands of women who are finding varied uses for Grape-Nuts in their home cooking, and even more thousands who will be glad to learn of those varied uses; for while we all cling to old favorite dishes, we also welcome and enjoy a change.

So that is the thought back of our offer of more than $7500.00 in cash for new ways of using Grape-Nuts. To those women who are already using Grape-Nuts in various ways, other than as a breakfast cereal or in the recipes given here, and to those women who would like to try their hand at developing some new way to use Grape-Nuts, we offer to buy at $50.00 each not less than 101 new Grape-Nuts Recipes. We plan to include these new Recipes in a beautifully illustrated cook book.

What Is Grape-Nuts?

Grape-Nuts is a highly nutritious food in the form of crisp, golden granules. It contains the full nutrition of wheat and barley, including vitamin-B and mineral elements required for building sturdy health. These elements are often lacking in the ordinary diet, chiefly through "over-refinement" in the preparation of food.

No other food is so thoroughly baked as Grape-Nuts. More than 20 hours are consumed in the baking process which makes Grape-Nuts easy to digest, and also develops a natural sweetness from the grains themselves.

The form and crispness of Grape-Nuts invite thorough mastication—a decided advantage because this not only provides proper exercise for the teeth, but makes for good digestion.

Every housewife in the Land should take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity to earn the tidy sum of $50.00 by a little pleasant and educational effort in her own home. Also the fair and equal chance to secure one of the liberal awards to be made by Good Housekeeping Institute.

Moreover, there's the greater knowledge of the value of Grape-Nuts, not only as a delicious breakfast cereal, but in the preparation of a variety of appetizing dishes that add to the health and pleasure of the whole family.

Where you don't find Grape-Nuts you won't find people

31 GOLF BALLS IN A NEST

Squirrel Which Gathered Them Must Have Imagined Them Nuts.

On the ground of the Augusta Country club at Manchester, Me., recently was found a squirrel's nest. In his nest a squirrel had concealed 31 golf balls. The place near the nest is one of the most difficult drives of the course and sometimes the golf balls are knocked into the woods and are lost. The nest was found by rare chance.

Evidently during the summer months the squirrel thought a new crop of nuts was invented and watched the balls speed through the air into the woods. After things had quieted down he began his work of collecting. Many of the balls were in good condition, while some bore the teeth marks of the hoarder.

Except for Sex, She Was Fine Specimen for Army

Montgomery, Ala.—Everything went along smoothly when Howard Snodgrass of Anniston, Ala., and a companion attempted to enlist in the army at the recruiting station here, until the companion was told to prepare for a physical examination. The companion turned out to be the wife of Snodgrass, dressed in men's clothing.

Except for her sex, she was a fine specimen for the army, the recruiting officers said.

It was erroneously located in the group in an early survey and has since been carried on all charts.

Plans to Promote Health and Fitness of Women

Washington, Plans for a nation-wide movement to promote the health and physical fitness of the American woman are being set on foot. The plan is to hold a series of conferences for which women and experts in physical training will be invited from all parts of the country, under the auspices of the National Amateur Athletic Federation. The conference was called by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the secretary of commerce, as a vice-president of the federation.

These three major topics were on the program: Physical standards and tests; and their correlation with activities and their effect on the individual; and the need of competitive athletics. The broad aim of the movement was declared to be a definite and nationally standardized program of physical fitness for women and girls, stressing the forms of athletics and exercises most suitable.

Swiss Pertia Wins First Case. Bernese Emmanuelle Rosier was her first case in law, in the Swiss Supreme court, which sustained her plea for admission to practice in Swiss courts. She passed the bar examination, but the court of Bern denied her the right to practice because she was a woman. The Supreme court upheld the claim of woman's equality in the law.

TURK CAPITAL IS RICH IN HISTORY

Angora Stronghold on Frontiers of Roman Empire.

WAS OCCUPIED BY CRUSADERS

Angora's picturesque old city and its surrounding plain, for only three miles from the sea, is a rich storehouse of history. The city, which is the capital of the province of Angora, is a stronghold on the frontiers of the Roman Empire. It was occupied by the Crusaders in the thirteenth century. The city is a rich storehouse of history, and its ruins are a testament to the power of the Roman Empire.

The bastions are of red sandstone, and shaped to a sharp point, like the bow of a ship. The unimpaired remains of the Middle Ages is witnessed in its structure, for among the huge freestone blocks that form it are built in all sorts of relics of the dead and gone Angoras of the past. Here is a delicately fretted cornice from an old Greek temple. Close by the fragment of some majestic Roman inscription, clear cut as the day it was first carved, marks the place where Angora was a stronghold of the frontiers of the Roman empire. Gravestones and broken bits of friezes, pilasters and Roman tiles have all gone to strengthen the still unbroken wall.

Oddly Foreign Look.

Lower down the hill stand the gray ruins of a castle of feudal type. Perhaps Geoffrey de Rouillon built it when the Crusaders held Angora for twenty years. It has an oddly foreign look here in the heart of Asia Minor. Its crumbling battlements would harmonize much better with a background of green English meadowland or Norman orchards.

But apart from this hill citadel Angora has no characteristics that it does not share with every other of the drab village towns of Anatolia. Yet, half hidden behind its highest mosque is a splendid relic of what must have been an Angora out of all comparison, more beautiful and stately. It is the ruined fragment of a Roman temple of Augustus, just a square decorated archway 30 feet high, leading to a chancel, in which a flight of steps goes down to a vaulted dungeon beneath where the altar must have stood, entered by a doorway only a foot high. The walls of this monument to a race that was not only conquering, but constructive, are of freestone with several courses of sandstone of a brilliant crimson. They are built in a pattern of arches and Greek wave design, and in another place, of a conventional pattern representing apparently an octopus.

Much of this old Roman masonry that still stands so firmly is inscribed with half effaced histories of the emperors, as the Latin script says, by his own order. But there are also many marks of its eventful history since those times. Made by Crusader? There is a Maltese cross engraved out with the chisel. Did some little crusader, perhaps from far away England, fill in his afternoon by making it? Close by an industrious Turk has chipped a long phrase in the dialectic calligraphy of his language, and opposite a modern Greek, in an impulse of bravado, has scratched his name with the date 1914-1922.

Tombstones of old Roman prefects lie prone on the ground and all so by them stand the rounded domes of the graves of Turkish families who have lived here in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. The idea of rebuilding some rich imposing city as the Romans set upon this open and level plateau is strong in the minds of the new Turkish government. They plan it in the plain outside the present town and say that its avenues will be broader than the famous Ellysos. The scheme, in its present form, resembles one rather of the layout of the city of Eden, where Martin Whitcraft of Angora, is a railway station, for there the President lives in what was meant for the station master's house, while the French representative has a smaller building.
